Why get involved in Church Planting?

There is not a lot said directly in the book of Acts about the Church in Antioch, but what we do know indirectly from Acts is it was a church committed to the mission of God. Many of the people were Greek and it was planted by people coming from other places to share the message of truth and freedom. It was where Barnabas and Saul were recognised and sent from on their first church planting trip. It was a church obedient to the great commission of Christ and a natural outworking of this obedience was church planting.

There is no doubt that this church was instrumental in the spread of churches that we read about in the Book of Acts. In fact without this churches obedience to the great commission and the great commandment we would not have had any churches in Europe and consequently in Australia.

Church planting if it is mission focused is the most effect way to fulfil the great commission and live the great commandment. We need different kinds of churches to reach different kinds of people. People who are unselfish enough to give of their time, energy and resources to the cause of planting mission focused churches will always enjoy the thrill of the ride. Church Planting keeps people on the edge of their seats as they see God's amazing grace at work.

It is an opportunity to create new ways of connecting the ancient sacred message with contemporary society. Church planting is never boring nor is it controlled, it takes faith and courage to be involved. The outcome will always bring the life and vitality that Jesus promised.

If you are concerned about people and serious about God's call to expand his kingdom then Church planting is the go.
